Next-Level Operator Training: Accurate Unveils New Training Lab

Accurate Training Center in Stillwater has provided professional water and wastewater operator training approved by the Oklahoma Department of Environmental Quality (ODEQ) since 1998. Known for its practical approach to operator education, the program focuses on hands-on laboratory experience that helps students translate classroom knowledge into real-world operational skills.

In March 2026, Accurate Training Center completed a new hands-on training laboratory designed specifically for operator education. This modern facility expands the center's ability to provide realistic laboratory exercises and equipment-based training that closely mirrors what operators encounter in treatment plants and field laboratories.

Courses are taught by experienced instructors who hold advanced degrees in higher education and bring more than 25 years of environmental laboratory and teaching experience. Their combination of academic expertise and field knowledge provides students with both strong technical understanding and practical insight.

With state-of-the-art facilities and extensive hands-on training, Accurate Training Center continues to set a high standard for operator education in Oklahoma.
